Presented by the Visiting Fellows in Israel Studies at the Freeman Spogli Institute for International Studies, in partnership with the Daniel Pearl Foundation and Hillel at Stanford.

Yossi Klein Halevi is a senior fellow at the Shalom Hartman Institute in Jerusalem. Together with Imam Abdullah Antepli of Duke University, he co-directs the Institute's Muslim Leadership Initiative (MLI), which teaches emerging young Muslim American leaders about Judaism, Jewish identity and Israel.

Halevi's 2013 book, Like Dreamers, won the Jewish Book Council's Everett Book of the Year Award. His latest book, Letters to My Palestinian Neighbor, is a New York Times bestseller. He writes for leading op-ed pages in the US, including the Times and the Wall Street Journal, and is a former contributing editor to the New Republic.

The Lecture will celebrate the memory of Daniel Pearl, Stanford Class of 1985, Phi Beta Kappa, who as a journalist, musician, and family man, dedicated his life to the ideals of peace and humanity. In 2002, Daniel was kidnapped and murdered by terrorists in Pakistan, while performing his duties as a foreign correspondent for Wall Street Journal.
